Get Northwest Ideas

NOWHERE are more beautiful blossoms produced than in the Pacific Northwest, one of the garden spots of America.

BUT cultural practices which will produce excellent results east of the Rockies and in Southern California will be failures here.

THE only spot on the globe with climate and soil conditions comparable to that in the Pacific Northwest is England.

BETTER FLOWERS is published in the Pacific Northwest by men who live here and know local conditions.

ITS contributors include the foremost amateur and professional flower growers of this section.

The Managing Editor of BETTER FLOWERS is Frank C. Riggs, F. R. H. S., one of the outstanding Garden Authorities in the United States.

His monthly "Timely Hints for Amateurs" are internationally quoted.

NARCISSUS

(Add postage beyond 2nd zone)

Narcissus is the general name for all daffodils, jon-quils and similar flowers of this wonderful group of bulbous plants. So great has been the improvement of this flower in Europe that one has only to see some of the recent novelties to understand the furore of admiration they have stirred up in England, Holland and alsewhere. The finest of these novelties have only just reached America and are in the hands of a few growers, most of whom are located in the Pacific Northwest. Thru an unusual cooperative arrangement we are able to be the first to offer a considerable number of the cream of these marvelous novelties to the American public. The ones herein listed have been the wonders of the 1927 shows in the Pacific Northwest and in Europe.
